CREES OF HURE REPTIES IN ADVANUE

THE NEW MEXICAN EMPIRE.

City or Mexico, June 13. Our great event hers, the a rival of Maximilian, has come and gone; and I will try to give you an ides of the reception. At about 10 A. M. yesterday a long string of gentlemen, each on the hest borse he ld turn out, and about two hundred cafamilies of this city—but not all, mark—went ont to meet the new Emperor, about a lengue from the gari'a, and I may say, to bear for them during some hours the buruing rays of a tropical sun in full force. At about 1 P. M. the meeting took place on the Santa Cruz ranche. The imperial couple got out of their carrisgs to salute the families who hid them welcome and give them

An hour later a great dust was seen in the direction of the city, and in a little time groups of carriages and mules could be dis-corned, in the modet of which was to be seen a brilliant hody of French officers. In a few minutes a salvo of one hundred and one guns began to thunder forth, and the bells of the city rang a nowy peal, heard in the inter-vals of the firing. A crowd of persons, with colors in their hands, gathered about the imperial carriage, and then ensued a scene of av welcome, the men shouting and waving rench officers about him smiling, and so on. Vivas rent the sir, and all went on in such a way as to please the best friend of the new rule. It was really an ovation. In order to had to slight and go about fifty paces ot. WEDNESDAY, JULY 13, 1864. We cannot make much out of the sd I:tional accounts of the movements and doings of the rebel forces in Maryland. The invaders | men of Kentneky under Governor Bramlette seem to be spread quite extensively over that and Colonel Wolford, they consent to trust State, and of course they are still upon toe | the negroes of the State under commanders of same wild career of plunder and destruction which they have been night and day pursuing. We elsewhere republish from the Oiacinnati Commercial a portion of a letter cm. hodying the statements of two of General Storgie's officers in relation to his late disaster. The matter is thus summed up by the Commercial itself, in calling the public attention to the statements: "The sum of the matter is he was ontnumbered and defeated by the enemy in a difficult country, and his troops suffered greatly in the retreat. [S'gned] FRANK WOLFORD.

FRANKFORT, Ky., June 25, 1864. Col. Frank Wolford: Your note of yester-day giving notice that the companies were now complete for the regiment you were au-thorized to raise for six months' service, and r questing a day fixed for their rendezvous and The Adjutant-General was directed som:

lays since to give notice to those recruiting for six mouths' service that we would no go forward in the organization of these forces and that those not mustered nor in camp wer-lischarged. Your address not then bein. now u notice could not be sent you. The Secretary of War having authorized the raising of 10,000 troops in Kentucky for six mouths' service on the 31 day of May within a limited time, in order to forward the puroses of the Government and aid in giving th faithing blow to the rebellion, my call w

The number required would have been raised within thirty days, but for the commence-ment of the draft immediately following my call for volunteers.

As volunteers in the six months' service were not exempt from the pending draft there was no incentive to volunteer; but on the contrary, having to take their chances of the draft whether they volunteered or not, restrained men from volunteering.

To increase the obstacles in the way of rais or increase the obstacles in the way or raising volunteers, immediately enceeding the draft of a county, the provost marshale, and other recruiting agents, were set actively to work to induce all the able-bodied negroes in such counties to run away and enlist; thus withdrawing from the growing crops the later absolutely required to perfect and so no trem. Large ferms have that been wholly robbed of laber; and the crops now go to waste The negroes have been made to believe that by volunteering, they would not only obtain their own freedom, but would receive four hundreddillars bounty—thirty days furlough, with the privilege of going home and bearing away their tamilies; that they would all remain in Kentucky, and in the course of six menths the war would be over and they free. Thus thousands have already been removed from the fields where the growing crops required their later to the various camps estabwestern Kentucky an officer using gunboat nd government transports as aids was actively is camp; in many instances taking all the ranks on large farms, leaving the crops to serish for want of cultivation. Before the ee was adopted, agents and recruiting ers from other States had seduced from ir owners about twelve thousand negroes ler which the State can obtain no credit, nor the cwner a voucher. These have gone to the credit of other States, and to enrich the agents and recruiting brokers engaged in this new mode of slave dealing.

While these real obstacles were interposed preventing as from obtaining volunteers, a class of men over the State, who contributed nothing but professions of extreme loyalty for the defence of the country, and who cray on their bellies to lick the fost of rowsz-b eing ignorant of the fact that thesex manth master—raised the hne and cry against it, and traged by all means in their power ensiments for the six months' service Knowing there were hardreds of the brave and loyal men in Kentucky who would rally and hoping to overesme to some extent the 26th of May I requested you to raise a regiment. THE CHARE. For nearly two years the rebal pirates have been a source of annoyance to the Navy Department. The recognition of the rebe as belijgerents by the principal maritime powers at the commencement of hos. littles, gave strength and character to the justicetion, which it could never have had but for that re-cognition. The United States had an extensive commerce which penetrated every sea, while the rebels were witcout commerce or whigh. The United States had a navy, and equadrons on almost every cosan; the rebels had not a single armed vessel at home or

When the Sampter, a vessel stolen from our merchan's, made her escape and went abroad armed, but without a recognized nationality, to seem and destroy our merchanimen upon the high seas, she found, nultke the Algerine corsains, letage end protection within the maritime junistiction or the great European cwe's wi h whom the United States were in friendship; and bussly, after neing followed by our cruisers into the harbor of Gierslan, she was permitted by the authorities to remain not only inventy-four hours, but more than we've mouths, and was eventually transferred to an English purch seer, went to an English port, was refitted and left the English chiros with a contrabant cargo, and has since run the blockade, carrying supplies to the rebeis.

The Florida and theorgia were also shown fivore by our foreign friends. The Sau Jackson was the only vessel, hesides the Kearsenge, that came leto the same port with the Alsoams, and she met her at Martinique.
